

A Message from the Toronto Academic Health Science Network (TAHSN) Hospitals

We are deeply grateful to our community for your overwhelming support at this unprecedented time.

The COVID-19 pandemic is changing everyone's lives and the way we work and socialize. It is forcing each of us to recognize the need to take extraordinary measures such as staying at home to halt the spread of COVID-19.

As you look forward to celebrating and recognizing the upcoming holidays, we have an important message:

As academic health science centres, we rely on evidence to guide us. It is clear that the best thing for everyone to do is stay at home and practice physical distancing. Please continue to be vigilant in doing so.

Everyone has an important role to play in protecting ourselves, each other and our front-line health care teams working to save lives every day.

Together, we can flatten the curve.

William Reichman
President & CEO
Baycrest

Catherine Zahn
President & CEO
Centre for Addiction and Mental Health

Julia Hanigsberg
President & CEO
Holland Bloorview Kids Rehabilitation Hospital

Sarah Downey
President & CEO
Michael Garron Hospital

Joshua Tepper
President & CEO
North York General Hospital

Ronald Cohn
President & CEO
SickKids

Gary Newton
President & CEO
Sinai Health

Andy Smith
President & CEO
Sunnybrook Health Sciences Centre

Michelle DiEmanuele
President & CEO
Trillium Health Partners

Tim Rutledge
President & CEO
Unity Health Toronto

Kevin Smith
President & CEO
University Health Network

Heather McPherson
President & CEO
Women's College Hospital