

Health care is about to reach a new height.

It's our 'topping off' ceremony and Women's College Hospital would like you to be part of this momentous occasion.

Join the Honourable Deb Matthews, Minister of Health and Long-Term Care, and Women's College Hospital to celebrate the official topping off of 'phase one' construction of our new building. This traditional 'topping off' event signifies that the highest point of our new facility has been reached, and celebrates the achievements of all those involved in building the Hospital of the Future.

To mark this exciting milestone, staff, physicians, volunteers and key stakeholders are invited to sign the last steel beam before it is hoisted onto the construction site.
